COMMERCE STUDENTS AND BUSINESSMEN GET TOGETHER

Students in the Faculty of Business

Administration and Commerce are again sponsoring and organizing a Student-Business Seminar, the seventh to be held at the Banff School of Fine Arts. It will be held between March 2 and 5, and the four-day event will be composed of a series of small seminars which feature leading executives from a cross-section of the Canadian business community. Banking, insurance, oil, airlines, and real estate will all be represented, as well as many smaller private firms.

Seminar topics will be of a practical nature and will relate directly to each speaker's field of involvement. The symposium will begin with a keynote address by H. BUCHWALD, Q.C., Chairman of the Canadian Consumer Council. He will speak on "The new morality in Canadian business." F. D. JONES, Professor of Law, will be the featured speaker on Friday evening, March 3. In his capacity as Taxation Consultant to the Canadian government, he will discuss the philosophy of the new tax laws and their reallocation of resources. Similar topics will be discussed in the daily seminars.

Participating businessmen have agreed to underwrite their own expenses and have thus enabled the students to attend the seminar at a minimal cost.

The posters and election speeches are put away for another year, the campus has returned to its normal winter shade of grey, and the Students' Union has a new executive. Second year law student GERRY RISKIN (LEFT) is the new President and ROB SPRAGINS, a commerce student (RIGHT), is Executive Vice-President. With some 3,000 votes they were about 1,000 votes ahead of their nearest opponents, ANN MC RAE and SAFFON SHANDRO. Arts student PATRICK DELANEY was elected Academic Vice-President; science student BETH KUHNKE, Vice-President (Services); and GARY WEST, a physical education student, Vice-President (Administration).

CHRISTOPHER J. SMITH

1935 - 1972

Christopher Smith, Associate Professor of Biochemistry, was one of three killed in an avalanche on Mount Edith Cavell last weekend. Dr. Smith was born in Kent, England. In 1961 he received his PhD in Biochemistry under ERICH REID at the Chester Beatty Institute in London. He later worked in collaboration with EDWARD HERBERT first at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and then at the University of Oregon. He joined the Department of Biochemistry here in 1966. His research was concerned with transfer RNAs, a class of molecules which play a central part in the control of the cell's growth. This work was supported by the Medical Research Council and by the National Cancer Institute.

Dr. Smith was also a member of the Radiation Control Committee and the Library Committee.
